1841 JOSEPH BOGGS BEALE 1926

Great grand-nephew of Betsy Ross, born "on December 10th, 1841 in Eighth Street below Arch in Philadelphia, East Side" writes Beale. Student at The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts—associate of Albert Rosenthal, the great American portraitist and the equally famous Thomas Eakins. Professor of Art at the Central High School in Philadelphia—illustrator for Frank Leslie's Weekly and New York Graphic—of the 80's, and other publications. Predated Walt Disney and comic strip artists in the depiction of pictures in series illustrating action in the same scene or the continuation of the story. Possessed a unique and distinctive technic and method of rendition, the like of which was not seen prior to his development nor duplicated since. A forthright illustrator, showing great vision, imagination and tireless research.

THE USES FOR THIS MATERIAL ARE MANY

For help in investigating the various avenues to which this material can be applied, we offer the following suggestions.

A PICTURE QUIZ—

A 10 minute examination of the entire group of pictures by the student body. The students to write a paper listing as many of the titles they can remember. A mark of 5 points for all accurate titles and a mark of 2 points for titles, recognizable—tho not exactly as given on the pictures—can be given in this quiz.

This quiz will develop observation and show ability for retention.

A DATE QUIZ—

This quiz can be conducted in the same manner as the Picture Quiz tho an additional 10 points should be given if dates are in chronological order.

This quiz will develop memory and accuracy. It will vitalize the students' interest in American traditions.

A HUNT AND FIND QUIZ—

A 10 minute inspection of each picture by the student body. The students to write a paper on "what did you find in the picture that was most unusual".

This quiz will stimulate individual thinking and produce complete class interest when special selected papers are read.

A HISTORY QUIZ—

A 10 minute discussion of each picture by the teacher. The student body to write a paper on as much of the discussion as they can remember.

This quiz will expose the full benefit of the above quizzes and will develop class interest in American History.

Note—The different quizzes should be explained in detail to the class to obtain full co-operation and best results. Other forms than those enumerated here can be devised by any teacher.

THE ABOVE QUIZZES ARE DESIGNED TO PROMOTE OBSERVATION, CONCENTRATION, MEMORY AND INTEREST IN AMERICAN HISTORY AND ITS TRADITIONS.

THIS PORTFOLIO-BOOK WAS PREPARED TO HELP THE YOUTH OF THE NATION WITH THEIR AMERICAN HISTORY STUDIES AND TO MAKE THEM MORE CONSCIOUS OF THE TRADITIONS THAT DEVELOPED THIS GREAT NATION INTO THE DEMOCRACY THAT IT IS.
